Brazilian Minister Said to Have Left Mexico to Prevent Dismissal By Gen Carranza, Whom it Is Claimed May Proclaim Himself Provisional President of Mexico—Pan-American Conference Reopens Wednesday.

By Associated Press.
Washington, August 9.—Carranza officials here said today the Brazilian minister at Mexico City, the only diplomatic representative the United States has in Mexico, has been withdrawn by his government because General Carranza was prepared to expel him from the country as he did Senor Ortega, the Guatemalan minister.

The Brazilian minister reported to the State Department today that no reason had been given for the expulsion of Senor Ortega and that he himself intended to sail Wednesday from Vera Cruz on a French liner for the United States.

It is believed here that Carranza expelled the Guatemalan minister and was preparing to expel the Brazilian minister because of the participation of their countries in the Pan-American conference in Washington for composing Mexican affairs.

The development is a very disturbing one for the success of the Pan-American conference. Officials who were hoping Carranza would join a peace conference with his adversaries, and meet the efforts of the Pan-American nations to settle the factional strife, were much disappointed.

It was said by Carranza agents that neither the Guatemalan or the Brazilian had been on good terms with Carranza and that it had been Carranza's intention to hand the Brazilian his passports as soon as he again reoccupied Mexico City.

The participation of Brazil and Guatemala in the Pan-American conference, they said, brought Carranza resentment to a climax.

State Department advices today said General Carranza was making hurried preparations to move his capital from Vera Cruz to Mexico City. Clerks have been moving the archives to the capital since Friday.

with a total loss of $25,000, partly covered by insurance. The entire village was for a time threatened with destruction. It has a population of about 500.

A majority of the officers and men composing the crew of the battleship was saved. The vessel was built in Germany in 1891 and was purchased from Germany by Turkey in 1910. Her complement consisted of about 600 officers and men.

650,000 ITALIAN TROOPS WILL BE SENT TO FRANCE OR TO THE DARDANELLES

Austro-German Forces Striking Hard at Retreating Russians and Claim Slavic Forces Have Been Separated By Thrust—Novo Georgievsk Is Cut Off—Great Throngs of Refugees Sleeping in Woods—Dardanelles Campaign Growing in Importance—Teutonic Offensive in the West Is Growing—Germans Cross Vistula at Warsaw—Next Great Blow Will Be Against Serbia.

By Associated Press.

New York, August 9.—Italy will send 650,000 fresh troops to either France or the Dardanelles within the next three weeks, according to a captain in the Italian army who arrived here today on an Italian steamer to buy war supplies.

He said the troops had been assembled and that between 150 and 200 large transports were ready to convey the men.

London, August 9.—Austrian and German troops are striking hard at the retreating lines of the Russians in Poland.

Berlin today reported the forcing of the Vistula and the taking of Praga, on the east bank, while Austrian reports declare the Russian armies, falling back in the Vievz region, have been divided by telling blows.

The Germans continue to advance eastward from Praga.

The German statement claims the pursuing of Field Marshal von Hindenburg's troops closer to the fortress of Kovno, and the cutting off of Novo Georgievsk in the east between the Narew and the Vistula.

The Russians also are being hard pushed by Field Marshal von Mackensen's armies to the south, the statement adds.

Capture of numerous prisoners is reported from the various fronts.

German attacks along the western front on the allied positions are continuing with apparently increased intensity, but without success, according to the Paris Statement.

Berlin mentions the development of a battle east of Ypres, but does not record the outcome.

French attempts to advance in the Argonne were stopped, it is declared.

The shooting down of French aeroplanes at various points along the front is reported.

London, August 9.—Russia having rejected what, in England, is regarded as a boni fide proposal made by the German emperor for peace, with a part of Poland traded for Galicia, the great struggle in the east must continue, and as there is no indication of an immediate offensive by either side in the west, the struggle of the Russian forces to shake themselves free of the Austro-German grip remains the chief factor in the war news, with an added interest in the Dardanelles operations.

The Gallipoli field will be closely watched because of its possible bearing on the Balkan situation, again simmering by reason of renewed allied pressure on Bulgaria and Greece.

Never before has the importance of the operations of the Dardanelles been more keenly realized in Great Britain and France than now; especially as there are many indications that Germany plans to deliver her next hard blow against Serbia, in order to link up with Turkey and thus checkmate the spring plans of the entente allied powers.

It is increasingly manifest that Germany looks to the east for a settlement of the war.

By overrunning Serbia she would occupy a very favorable strategic position to invoke Bulgaria's passive or active aid in reaching Constantinople along the main line.

The expectations of such a move doubtless has brought about renewed negotiations between the entente allies and Bulgaria.

Berlin, via London, August 9.—Praga, the suburb of Warsaw on the eastern bank of the Vistula, has been occupied by German troops, according to an official statement issued today.

Petrograd, August 9.—Refugees from Courland continue to pour into Riga by the thousands. As far as possible quarters have been provided for them, but throngs nevertheless are sleeping in the woods.

ESCAPE FROM LEAVENWORTH

Leavenworth, Kans., August 9.—Three prisoners escaped from the United States penitentiary today. The men broke a lock on a door leading to a tunnel under the prison. They cut through two brick walls, each one foot thick, climbed to the top of the new east wing and went over the wall with the aid of a rope.

CRUISER DOCKS FOR MARINES

NEW CENSUS IS ORDERED

London, Aug. 9.—Every household in England will receive this week a national registration form which must be filled out and ready for collection by Aug. 16.

One hundred thousand voluntary distributors have been engaged to give out 27,000,000 printed slips which will indicate the war value of all men and women between the ages of 15 and 65. Most of the distributors will be women, supplied by the women's emergency corps.

The indexing system to be followed has been carefully worked out. The registrar general's staff, through the press, expects the people to give all the correct information in order to give the government the fullest possible opportunity to mobilize the nation intelligently.

FINANCING REBUILDING OF MEXICO

Secretary McAdoo to Approach Wall Street Magnates.

HAS OUTLINE OF PROGRAM

After Conferences With President Wilson and Secretary Lansing He Can Tell Financiers Just How Far the United States Will Go in Guaranteeing Peace and Suppressing New Revolutionary Outbreaks.

New York, Aug. 9.—Secretary of State Lansing and Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo held a conference here in regard to the financing of the administration's plan for the rebuilding of Mexico.

After their meeting, the place of which was kept secret, Secretary Lansing hurried back to Washington without making any statement for the press. Secretary McAdoo remained here. He also refused to make any comment on the results of the conference.

From authoritative sources, however, it was learned that the two men discussed in detail President Wilson's plan for the reconstruction of Mexico. Secretary Lansing laid before Secretary McAdoo the details of the proposed financing of the war-ridden country and also the extent to which the government is ready to go in restoring peace there.

Secretary McAdoo, it is learned, will approach certain financial interests in this city with the aim of ascertaining whether those bankers will back such a loan and on what terms. Naturally, the bankers will wish to know exactly what the United States will do in guaranteeing peace there and what steps it will take in suppressing any more revolutionary outbreaks. It is said that Secretary McAdoo, after his talks with President Wilson and Secretary Lansing, can lay a definite program before the bankers.

It was reported in one quarter that the financial group that will be approached comprise J. P. Morgan & Co., Kuhn, Loeb & Co., Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co., Halgarten & Co., Speyer & Co. and Hayden, Stone & Co. It is hinted that the Guaranty Trust company may be asked to participate in the underwriting of the proposed loan.

The Expert's Report

Council has received and considered the report of Mr. Jones, the lighting expert from Cleveland. That part of the report which has been given to the public seems to be just about the kind of suggestion that the city has had need of for some time.
(Of course it must be remembered that only part of Mr. Jones' report is given out for public consideration at this time, and we must not be too hasty in falling in with the suggestions made. There are many detail facts and figures—hard facts and cold figures—which must enter into the final consideration of the problem with which the city council is wrestling—how best to light Washington and stay within our municipal income.

There are other "experts" to be consulted and to submit facts and figures along with those Mr. Jones must suggest. The local light company has had experience in furnishing the mysterious current which illuminates the streets of the city and the "experts" by experience of that company must yet submit their report to be considered along with that of Mr. Jones.

Of course both working to the same end—a better system of lighting and more light for Washington—it is not improbable that in the final analysis the Cleveland expert and the local company may agree. Then having determined upon just what the city wants and should have it remains only for the keepers of the public exchequer to calculate with pencil and paper until they are able to answer the last and most important question—can we afford to have what we desire.

It is not difficult to show how the present lighting system may be improved on. It is with the detail of installing and maintaining the improvement which will present the greatest problem. Upon that question Mr. Jones' public report is yet silent.

The city needed Mr. Jones' advice and it's good as far as the public is permitted to know what that advice is and judging the whole by the part submitted it is reasonable to presume that Mr. Jones has worked out the entire problem but that presumption is by no means conclusive.

The people are to be encouraged in their demand for improvement, but they should be careful not to adopt the first suggestion made until it has proven its worth. Progressiveness is commendable and very much to be desired if tempered with enough of that, at present unpopular, conservatism to forbid its development in sheer recklessness.

The Old Pioneers

Each death that occurs in the ranks of our older citizens, as one by one they answer the final summons, causes us to be charitable with that lack of "up to dateness" which so many folks permit to be a source of annoyance now days.

When those old pioneers, at the age of three score, four score and more, give up the battle of life and enter into that realm where they never get behind the times so many folks realize, for the first time, that the sturdy qualities of rugged, homely, honest and plain frankness, almost to the point of bluntness, were the qualities which their age and time demanded and emphasized.

When they were young and engaged in the battle which made the wilds yield to man's demands for support, nature presented in the wilderness, no problems which could be solved by diplomacy.

It was a square out fight for existence. There was no use for society manners, no call for an easy way. It was a battle for existence with no quarter asked or given.

Every time one of the old settlers, who have been growing more and more out of touch with the present during the last score of years, dies we realize what a tremendous task his was and how well his work was done and how much we, of the present day with time and opportunity for the more refined pursuits, owe to the old timers.

How sad it is that this realization of true worth, this sense of deep obligation does not always come, with all its force, during the life time of these hardy old pioneers so that not only might their declining years be made happier by a closer companionship, but that we of the present could benefit by a more intimate knowledge of just how honestly and faithfully the men of a time that is gone, met their problems and solved them in order that posterity might enjoy to the full the fruits of their labors which in this day and time yielded, grudgingly, only the barest necessities.

The men still with us who drained the swamps of this vast garden spot and cleared away the forests have but few years before them and folks of this day should not fail to realize this real worth until after the earth has closed over their caskets.

I've sipped a rich man's sparkling wine,
His silverware I've handled,
I've placed these battered legs of mine
Neath tables gayly candled,
I dine on rare and costly fare
When'er good fortune lets me
But there's no meal that can compare
With those the missus gets me.

I've had your staks three inches thick
With all your Sam Ward trimmings,
I've had the breast of milk-fed chick
In luscious gravy swimming,
To dine in swell cafe or club
But irritates and frets me,
Give me the plain and wholesome grub—
The grub the missus gets me.

Two kiddies smiling at the board,
The cook right at the table,
The four of us, a hungry horde,
To beat that none is able,
A big meat pie, with flaky crust!
'Tis then that joy besets me;
Oh, I could eat, until I "bust"
Those meals the missus gets me.

Statistics furnished by the department of commerce indicate that the foreign trade of the United States did not really increase in the fiscal year 1914-15—that is to say, that, while there was an increase of almost 1 per cent over that of the corresponding period of 1912-13, there would in normal times have been an increase of probably 6 or 8 per cent. The trade in 1913-14, of course, fell off, and that of this year would have been lower but for the spurt in exports of war munitions. It is doubtful if the profits of this trade offset the loss which may be traced to the war in other lines. Our trade thrives best when we sell goods normally consumed in time of peace and take in payment goods needed for consumption here.

London, Aug. 9.—Much interest has been aroused by the confirmation from Prince Louis of Battenberg that it was he and not Winston Spencer Churchill who issued the famous order to mobilize the fleet at the beginning of the war. From the outset Mr. Churchill, then first lord of the admiralty, has received the highest praise for his foresight in having the British fleet mobilized at the critical moment. Some time ago, however, F. T. Jane, a well known naval expert, publicly announced that Prince Louis of Battenberg deserved this credit. It will be recalled that shortly after the war began Prince Louis of Battenberg resigned as first sea lord because of bitter criticism, based chiefly on the fact of his German descent.

And now comes the article by the prince himself in the Standard, finally clearing the matter up and making it plain that it was he and not Mr. Churchill who ordered the mobilization of the fleet.

"When the war came," says Mr. Jane, "the British navy was ready and waiting. This fact is generally put down to Mr. Churchill. We have all read it in the press and we have all believed it, but it was the first sea lord of those days, Prince Louis of Battenberg, who kept the fleet together. He it was who saved us the horrors of Belgium."

The confirmation of Mr. Jane's assertion as it appears in the Standard is: "It is quite true that it was your humble servant and not Mr. Churchill who was spending the week end at Cromer with his wife. It was I who ordered all ships to stand fast instead of demobilizing as ordered."

Sir Robertson, M. P., explains why Prince Louis did not let the world know before the great service he had performed for the country by keeping the fleet mobilized. He says that Prince Louis seemed to think that if the facts were published some sort of injury to the national interests might result.

It is generally agreed that the action of Prince Louis saved England from invasion at the outbreak of the war by an enormous number of picked German troops. Mr. Jane says that 100,000 German troops were actually embarked and were on their way to the east coast when the unexpected preparedness of the British fleet made them turn back.

THE LACE OF VENICE.

An Ancient Industry That Was Revived by Queen Margherita.

The lace of Venice has been celebrated for many centuries. It was made originally by nuns within the walls of convents for ecclesiastical garments. Then, with the fall of the Venetian republic, the convents were closed and the lace industry ceased to exist for an entire century.

In 1870 the Princess Margherita, afterward queen of Italy, took measures to revive it, especially as a means of providing employment for Venetian women. At present there are several schools, subsidized by the government, in which the art is taught.

The pupils are women of all ages. Each sits on a low stool and holds a plump, square cushion in her lap. On this cushion is pinned a strip of paper marked with the pattern to be followed, and into this pattern the nimble fingered worker sticks glass headed pins, about which she twists her threads. From twenty to fifty shuttles depend from all sides of the cushion, and these are thrown across and back with the rapidity of a typist handling the keys of her machine.

The process looks so simple that it looks like play, but the lace produced represents thousands of dollars. The simple laces grow rapidly under the dexterous fingers of the women, but the exquisite rose point and other similar sorts are evolved much more slowly.—Harper's Weekly.

Tantalizing Ownership.
In a French village a citizen had upon his land a part of an old building containing two very beautiful windows. He was in debt and embarrassed and eagerly closed with the offer of a rich archaeologist, who bought them. Thereupon the government inspector, hearing of the bargain, arrived just in time to stop the masons from dislodging the windows. "You cannot," he said to the villager, "sell antiquities, my man." "But, excellency, I have used the money and paid my creditors." The villager was in despair, but the official was untouched. "That's all right," he said. "The money is safe. The windows are no longer yours. But the buyer can now move a stone of them. He can, however, come with a camp stool and sit down and look at his property as much as he likes."

History repeats itself. Back in the "forties" General Zach Taylor plied his warning from the bank of the Rio Grande to the Mexican adventurer on the other side. "If you can't keep your ruffians in order I'll come over and do it for you!" Now the ultimatum is from the banks of the Potomac, but Washington's arm has a swifter, longer reach than it had sixty odd years ago.

Who overcomes by force hath overcome but half his foe.—Milton

NEW BRICK AND STONE UNION STATION PROMISED BY B. & O.

Splendid Structure to Be Erected Before Winter Sets In, and Will Be in Keeping With Remainder of City—Energetic Vice President A. W. Thompson Pleased With Enthusiasm Shown and Proves His Right to Term, "The Man Who Does Things"—Local Citizens Are Delighted With Prompt Action of B. & O. in Response to Appeal for Better Passenger Facilities—"Hatchet Buried"—New Roadway for Traffic Will Be Necessary for Big Improvement.

A splendid new brick and stone Union Station will be erected in this city before winter weather sets in. This was the pleasing announcement made to more than 100 representative business men of the city, by Mr. A. W. Thompson, first vice-president of the B. & O. railroad and "the man who does things" on the B. & O.

When the announcement was made to the business men assembled in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium Monday morning a storm of applause broke forth and three rousing cheers for the B. & O. were shouted with hearty good will.

Mr. Thompson's announcement, which is of great interest and importance to all local citizens, was made at a conference held immediately after he had been escorted about the city by a half score of automobile parties, had been handed the "glad hand" generally and had obtained, as he admitted, a much more comprehensive idea of what Washington C. H. and her citizens really are.

The original plan was to meet Mr. Thompson at luncheon, but early Monday morning the word was passed among the business men that Mr. Thompson's private car would be in this city at eight o'clock, and shortly after that time a delegation, headed by Mr. Will Worthington and Hon. C. A. Reid, met Mr. Thompson and his associates, and after a short inspection of the B. & O. station vicinity, the party of visitors was escorted about the city that they might know Washington is entering upon a new epoch of progressiveness.

Upon the return to the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Worthington introduced Mr. Reid, who presented the city's case to the visiting officials. Mr. Reid pointed out the fact that the present facilities were and always had been entirely out of keeping with the remainder of the city; that the city was entering upon a new era of progressiveness and desired a Union Station adequate to accommodate the traveling public in appropriate manner, and that a depot was desired so located that it would not be necessary to cross the tracks to get to it. Mr. Reid stated that owing to the facilities at the present time, some citizens had long harbored a "sore" spot over the passenger station facilities. In concluding his address he introduced Mr. Thompson.

Instead of a gruff railroad official expected by some, Mr. Thompson is a man of pleasing address and had not been upon the floor two minutes until he had made a friend of every man present. Mr. Thompson was here not only in his own official capacity, but with full instructions from President Willard himself to act as Mr. Willard's personal representative and every word uttered by Mr. Thompson carried the same weight as if uttered by President Willard himself.

Mr. Thompson expressed his pleasure and surprise at the magnitude of the reception and regretted that he was unable to lunch with local citizens as originally planned.

After discussing the train service of the B. & O. and stating that the depot was not in keeping with the remainder of the city, he said:

"The nature of this reception shows me that it isn't a question of what you want—it is a question of what you are going to get." He then announced that a new union station to be used by the B. & O., C. H. & D. and D. T. & I. railroads, would be erected before bad weather sets in. It was then he was interrupted by applause and three ringing cheers.

He further stated that the plans would be for a brick and stone structure, with large waiting rooms, private smoking room, ladies' private waiting room, toilets and other accommodations, and that the depot would be set on the south side of Paint street near the intersection of the B. & O., D. T. & I. and C. H. & D. railroads, and so arranged as to give the best possible service.

He had been assured that the question of changing the thoroughfare in accordance with the station plans, would be taken care of by council, he stated, and that within 30 days plans for the new station would be placed in the hands of Mayor Coffey, and another meeting would be held with the Dutch Treat Club to obtain approval of the plans by the local citizens.

The cost of moving the tracks to conform with the new plans will be several thousand dollars, he announced, and the cost of the station will be heavy.

Mr. Thompson said the B. & O. and C. H. & D. and he felt sure the D. T. & I. also would use the station. "Judging from what I have seen here I know the D. T. & I. will do what you have asked," he said.

Continuing Mr. Thompson said: "It is our intention of erecting a station that will be in keeping with the remainder of the city, and we believe you will like our proposal very much."

He regretted that feeling against the B. & O. had existed, and hoped that it would subside and that the B. & O. was anxious to enjoy all of the business local citizens could give it. This was the only reference he made to the movement launched sometime ago to make it plain that this city wanted a new station, by throwing business to other railroads.

Gen. Supt. R. N. Begiens made a few remarks, stating that he was pleased with Mr. Thompson's action; that the present depot was not what the city should have and that he would take great pleasure in carrying out the plans of Mr. Thompson in erecting the new station.

G. D. Brooks, Division Superintendent and W. B. Calloway, also made brief response when called upon by Chairman Worthington. Mr. Calloway recalled a previous conference here when the reception was very cold, and joined his auditors in the general laugh over the affair.

After viewing plans for the new lighting system and expressing the hope that the "white way" would be extended to the Union Station, Mr. Thompson and his associates were escorted to their private cars, and left the city for the east at 10:42 a. m.

At an early meeting of council steps will be taken to properly provide for traffic which now uses the street leading past the B. & O. station.

When the new station is erected, the street will be abandoned at that point, and will be extended either south and west of the new station, or some means arranged to the north of the tracks.

The new station will be so located that platforms will extend along all three railroads. The B. & O.

tracks will be thrown further south on Paint street, and a large driveway will be arranged in front of the station, or to the east. Plans submitted by the committee, were readily approved. Within a short time definite plans for proper changing of the street will be submitted.

No little credit for obtaining the Union Station rests upon Mr. Will Worthington, who, backed by the Dutch Treat Club, and particularly by a splendid committee, has worked untiringly to gain an audience with Mr. Thompson and present the city's case.

LIGHTNING HITS AND DESTROYS BARN

During the heavy electric storm which swept over central Fayette county between two and three o'clock Sunday morning, lightning struck and completely destroyed the Fred Hamm barn on the Robinson road, two miles east of this city.

It was the third time the barn had been singled out by storms this summer, the structure being damaged one week ago Saturday, and during the tornado of July.

Within a few minutes after the lightning hit the barn, the structure was enveloped in flames and soon burned to the ground, together with all it contained, which included 27 tons of hay, tools and machinery. A cattle shed also was burned to the ground.

The flames lighted the heavens so that the fire could be seen for many miles.

Mr. Hamm's loss will be about $1,000 above all insurance. He was insured in the Ohio Farmer company.

DEATH OF A COW CAUSES LITIGATION

A case styled Augusta H. Sheridan against Wm. Arbaugh has been carried up from the court of Justice Craig to the common pleas court, following the awarding of judgment in the sum of $50 to the plaintiff for the death of a Jersey heifer, killed by a tree being felled upon her.

Plaintiff claims that on June 5th the defendant, through his servants, negligently and unlawfully cut and felled a tree which killed the heifer. Judgment in the full amount was granted and the defendant later carried the case to the common pleas court.

Post & Reid represent the plaintiff and A. R. Creamer the defendant.

FUNERAL TOMORROW

The funeral services of Mrs. Melissa A. Curran will be held at the residence, 34 West Court street, Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock. Burial will be made in the Washington cemetery.

REACHES HOME AFTER HARD DRIVE

Undertaker Klever, accompanied by Mr. Clore Thompson of The Riddle Coach Hearse Co., of Ravenna, arrived in this city at eight o'clock Friday night, driving through from Ravenna the handsome auto hearse and ambulance, which is Mr. Klever's latest equipment to his undertaking establishment.

The new car, the very latest idea in motor construction, has attracted no little attention since its arrival. It has the new limousine closed front and the interior can be removed, leaving a solid surface of mahogany, which makes it perfectly sanitary.

The car is 50-horse power and equipped with continental motor, the largest Timkin axle that the Timkin Co. makes, and Silvertown cord tires.

It is most striking in appearance, of French silver gray, with mountings of silver plate all through and elaborate carving.

One of the most desirable features of the car is the spring cot, the newest thing in spring suspension, which can be adjusted for either reclining or sitting, with one move of the hand.

Messrs Klever and Thompson left Ravenna, where the car was purchased from the Riddle Coach and Hearse Co., at four o'clock Wednesday.

day afternoon and found the roads so bad between there and Zanesville that they caused considerable delay.

REIGN OF THE AUTOMOBILE.

It Will Cost This Country This Year Over a Billion Dollars.

On June 1 the number of automobiles in the United States passed the 2,000,000 mark for the first time, which leads the Scientific American to make the following calculation:

"To run 2,000,000 cars for one year requires at the very least 1,000,000,000 (one billion) gallons of "gas," worth $130,000,000; 20,000,000 gallons of lubricating oil, worth $8,000,000; 12,000,000 tires, worth not less than $16 apiece, or $192,000,000; accessories and extra comforts, goggles, gloves and caps at $50 per car, equal $100,000,000; garage charges on short tours (exclusive of gas and oil), $100 per car per year, $200,000,000; repairs made necessary by wear, tear and accident (exclusive of tires), $50 per car per year, equal $100,000,000.

"According to these figures the total running expenses for all the cars in use amount to $730,000,000. Add thereto the value of the 600,000 new cars purchased during the year at an average price of $750, which equals $450,000,000, and we get the immense total of $1,180,000,000 spent in a single year (1915) on the sport of motoring."

Aeroplanes in Warfare.

Without the aeroplane in its numerous forms the present war would have been waged on utterly different lines at almost every point. Either the trench warfare would have been indefinitely prolonged or there would have been an ever recurrent number of surprise attacks, with alternate success and defeats, and a ceaseless shifting of the balance of advantage, and when so many millions of troops were engaged, over fronts of unprecedented lengths, heaven alone knows how the commanders in chief would have controlled their forces or directed their tactics. In any future war no country will take the field without regarding its "fourth arm" as its most precious and indispensable factor.—Charles L. Freeston in Scribner's.

British army recruits in Canada get a paragraph in the newspapers because they stop drilling to harvest crops. Well, our forefathers licked the forebears of these recruits by going armed into the fields and stopping harvest from time to time to shoot redcoats. It was all in a day's work for them.

CZAR NOT READY TO TALK PEACE

Spurns Proposals of Kaiser Through Danish Court.

SLAVS CONFIDENT OF VICTORY

Moscow Millionaire Declares Army Will Retire, if Necessary, as Far as Ural Mountains, and Will Fight to the Last Man — Serbia Agrees to Transfer Macedonia to Bulgaria. Greece Ready to Grant Concessions.

Petrograd, Aug. 9.—Emperor Nicholas has spurned the first terms of peace broached by Emperor William. It is stated in the Bourse Gazette.

The offer was made last week through King Christian X. of Denmark according to this paper, which asserts the information comes from an unimpeachable source.

"The question of peace negotiations can not be raised at the present time," is the brief message the czar is reported to have returned to the king.

The Danish queen is a German princess, Alexandrine of Mecklenburg, and the Russian emperor is a son of a sister of the late Christian IX. of Denmark.

Confirming the determination of Russia to continue the war with all the powers at the empire's command is the declaration of M. Ribbouchinsky, the Moscow millionaire, before the munitions organization committee.

"We shall retire if necessary as far as the Ural mountains. We shall fight to the last man, but we shall gain victory," he said.

The general committees appointed to organize industries for military purposes began their labors under the presidency of Alexander Guekoff, formerly president of the duma. Representatives of all parts of the empire attended the committee meetings.

An attempt was made to assassinate M. Neratoff, assistant Russian minister of foreign affairs. The assailant, a former official of the department, rushed into the assistant minister's room, brandishing an ax. When this weapon was wrested from him he drew a revolver, but was overpowered by attendants before he was able to fire. The man was dismissed two years ago and is believed to be demented.

There is much interest in the diplomatic negotiations in the Balkan capitals, the reports from which indicate that Serbia at last is willing to cede Macedonia to Bulgaria, but that the Greek government is now opposing any suggestion that she should return Kavala, the seaport in the vilayet of Saloniki, to Bulgaria. It is thought, however, that this opposition may be changed when M. Venizelos returns to power, which is expected when the Greek parliament reassembles early in September.

THE GERMAN STATEMENT

Berlin, Aug. 9.—The official statement follows: "French hand grenade attacks near Souchez and counter attacks against the trench taken from the French in the western Argonne on Friday were repulsed. Fighting on the Vosges, north of Muenster, was renewed Saturday afternoon. The night, however, was quiet."

"Eastern theater: German troops on the Narew are approaching the Lomza-Ostrov-Wyszkow road. At some points the enemy has offered stubborn resistance. South of Wyszkow, the river Bug has been reached. Serech, at the mouth of the Bug, has been occupied. Near Novogeorgievsk our siege troops took the forts at Segrze. Near Warsaw we gained the eastern bank of the Vistula."

"Southeastern theater: Under the pressure of troops under Field Marshal Von Mackensen the Russians are retreating in an easterly direction. Between the Vistula and the Bug the left wing of the group of armies under Field Marshal Von Mackensen has driven back the enemy in a northerly direction. The right wing is still fighting in the direction of the river Nieprz."

CAUSED NOT EVEN A RIPPLE

New York, Aug. 9.—George W. Perkins issued a statement accusing Frederick M. Davenport, who last fall was the Progressive candidate for governor, of having tried to wreck the Progressive party in this state before deserting it for the Republican party. Mr. Perkins said:

"Mr. Davenport's withdrawal from the Progressive party will not cause any letup in the party's activities in this state. He only withdrew after doing his best while still a member of the party to wreck its organization in various parts of the state. In this he failed, and his general conduct, I am satisfied, will tend to increase the activities of the membership of the party."

ON TRAIL OF KIDNAPED BOY

New York, Aug. 9.—James Glass, the four-year-old son of Charles Glass, an auditor for the Erie railroad, living in Jersey City, who was kidnaped at Greeley, Pike county, Pa., on May 12 last, is believed to be in Norman, Okla. A message to this effect has been received by Frank Hague, director of public safety of Jersey City, from the chief of police of Norman. According to advices from Norman, William Malore, who is in the shoe business, advertised that he wanted to adopt a small boy. On July 4 a woman left a child, answering in detail the description of the Glass boy, at the house, and promised to call on the following day to execute adoption papers. She did not appear, however.

THE COAL ORDER IS EXPLAINED

London, Aug. 9. — A foreign office statement explains that the recent order prohibiting the exportation of coal to other than British possessions does not mean a total prohibition of this trade. Firms making shipments to such places hereafter merely will be required to obtain a special license. The order was necessary in consequence of legislation regulating the price of coal in Great Britain.

DR. ORTEGA TURNED OUT

Washington, Aug. 9. — Administration officials who were inclined to believe that a peace parley between Mexican factions might soon result independent of the appeal to the military leaders which will go forward from Pan-American nations, are not so sanguine. Reports from Mexico City that Dr. Juan J. Ortega, the Guatemalan minister there, had been given his passports by General Carranza and ordered to leave the country within twenty-four hours, were responsible for the change of mind. Inasmuch as Guatemala is represented in the Latin-American conference, Carranza's drastic action is regarded here as indicating a disposition of unfriendliness toward the conference.

Ortega's forced departure from Mexico, together with the departure of G. Cordosa, the Brazilian minister at Mexico City, will leave in the Mexican capital no diplomatic representatives of any of the seven nations participating in the Mexican conference.

FRICTION AMONG ALLIED OFFICERS

Berlin, Aug. 9. — Telegrams from Athens give reports of increasing friction between French and British officers on Gallipoli peninsula. It has been necessary to forbid them to converse with each other. The French accuse the British of having lost courage on account of their heavy losses.

FIGHT ON A STEAMBOAT

New York, Aug. 9. — An outing of 1,200 members and friends of the Newark aerie of Eagles on the steamer Isabella and the barge Empire, which she towed, developed into a free-for-all fight over the war between Italians and Germans armed with beer bottles, glasses and camp stools. While the melee was in full swing a man fell overboard and was drowned, a woman, who also fell overboard, was rescued, and another woman excursionist gave birth to a child.

The Isabella's captain tried to pacify his passengers, but was driven to the pilot house. Nearing Hastings-on-the-Hudson he blew the whistle for aid, but the police there would not let him land his turbulent excursionists, so he turned the Isabella's prow out into the stream again. Then the baby was born.

PETROGRAD ROAD NOW THREATENED

RUSSIAN ARMY IN GRAVE PERIL

Teutons Report Fall of Three Forts at Novogeorgivsk and That They Have Crossed the River Bug North of Zerock—Latest News From Eastern War Zone Creates Great Fear in Minds of English Military Critics.

London, Aug. 9. — The fate of the Russian armies that have retired from Warsaw is hourly becoming more azaardous. Wireless dispatches from Berlin say that the Germans have occupied Zerock, at the confluence of the Bug and the Narw, and that they have crossed the Bug north of Zerock and south of Wyszokw.

This means that they are within five or six miles of the all important Warsaw-Petrograd railway, which, if cut before the Russian troops escape, will mean the almost certain envelopment and capture of an enormous army.

With Zerock in their possession and a crossing of the Bug already effected to the north, additional German forces are rapidly approaching the Lomza-Ostrow-Wyszokw road. This road runs in a northeasterly direction from Zerock, Lomza, the farthest removed town, being seventy miles away. The Russian forces are supposed to have entrenched themselves strongly along this line, but even if they are able to hold the Germans temporarily, it is doubtful if much will be gained unless the force which already has crossed the Bug south of Wyszokw is held.

Meanwhile, the fate of Novogeorgivsk, the Vistula fortress north of Warsaw, which the Russians have insisted can withstand a four months' siege, is none too sure. Berlin advices say that another of the ten forts making up the city's defenses has fallen, which means but seven of them remain. Novogeorgivsk was held out as a bright spot in the gloomy situation that surrounds the fall of Warsaw, for with it still in Russian hands the Vistula would remain an interrupted highway for the transportation of German supplies.

The English military critics have been quick to see a great peril to the Russian forces in the news, which says that the Germans have reached the Bug south of Wyszokw and are heading for the Petrograd railway, so few miles away. There is a very slight hope held out in the possibility that only a small force of troops has been left just east of Warsaw to hamper the German troops who are seeking to cross the Vistula at Praga and elsewhere in that locality. But this hope is only the slightest, for it is well known that the Germans have been held here for several days and there is not much likelihood that they could have been held by any but a considerable force. The fact in the news from Berlin that the Germans have gained the eastern bank of the Vistula near Warsaw may indicate that the Russian troops on this line have been greatly decreased, large numbers of them moving eastward over the Petrograd railroad and thus being saved from the German trap.

FOUR ARE DROWNED WHEN BOAT UPSETS

Wilmington, N. C., Aug. 9. — Four persons were drowned here when a motor boat in which they were crossing the Cape Fear river capsized.

A Clever Bird.

People who feed the wild birds in winter find that the birds soon come to know them. A friend of mine used every morning to rap an English walnut on the sill of his open window. A white breasted nuthatch knew the signal and would fly to his hand and take the nut meat from between his fingers. Sometimes my friend used to hold the nut meat tightly and make the bird work to get it. One morning the nuthatch, hammering at the tightly held morsel, struck the holder's thumb at the base of the nail. The blow hurt, and involuntarily the fingers parted and released the meat. The next morning, without any preliminaries, the nuthatch hammered at the same place. He knew, and he had learned his lesson in one session too. It is a smart boy that does as well.—Winthrop Packard in Our Dumb Animals.

Wit of the Force.

The policeman had a gambler by the arm and was waiting for the patrol wagon to arrive.

"What are you doing?" asked a friend of the officer who happened to be passing.

"I am holding a card party," replied the cop.—Boston Transcript.

FIERCE FIGHT WITH BANDITS

Brownsville, Tex., Aug. 9.—Pitched battles between 200 Mexicans and Texas Rangers, American ranchmen and armed civilians at Norias, sixty miles north of here, have resulted in a score of Mexicans being killed or wounded and five ranchmen wounded, two seriously.

United States troops from several Texas posts left this morning to the aid of the beleaguered Americans.

FACTORY IN WAX FIGURES.

London's Famous Tussaud Show, With a Word About Its Founder.

At an average rate of one model per fortnight I must have turned a round thousand in my time, some in hot haste to be up to date, others at comparative leisure, being less meteoric and of more abiding interest—royalties, for example, and men of letters, or great soldiers like Gordon, Wolseley and Roberts. Each stays as long as his fame endures. Nobody remembers when Shakespeare was not in the exhibition. Voltaire is its oldest inhabitant, and five generations have now passed before the figure of this revolutionary. The most notorious leaders of the French revolution are there, as of course the exhibition was transferred from Paris to London over 100 years ago.

It was in 1802 that madame came to London, having lived in Paris through the whole of the French revolution. Frequently had her art been requisitioned to mold the head of some sanguinary monster or other, Robespierre, Danton and Marat among the number. The cast of the last mentioned of this trio, still in the exhibition, was taken by Mme. Tussaud at the scene of his murder, and later she made a cast of the once beautiful face of his assassin, Charlotte Corday. Madame came to London alone, leaving her husband, Francois Tussaud, in Paris. After nearly half a century of peaceful and prosperous years in England, she died in 1850, in her ninety-first year.—John Theodore Tussaud in London Strand Magazine.

THINGS DOING AT THE MOVIES

PALACE.

William Farnum, starring in "The Mystery of Morrow's Rest," will be the feature attraction at the Palace this week, appearing in matinee and evening performances on Tuesday. The picture is a Fox production and has five parts. It is one of the very best of the Farnum plays.

Harry Myers and Rosemary Theby are Palace stars for Monday, showing in "The House of the Thousand Relations," a Victor two-reel comedy drama.

Wednesday a three-reel Imp, "Court-martialed," is scheduled, and Thursday "Heart of Cerise," an out-of-the-ordinary picture with Pauline Bush and William Clifford in three reels of Rex.

King Baggot is at the Palace Friday in "Life in the Balance," and Saturday Jean Gauntier and Jack Clark in "The Smuggler's Lass."

AIRDOME.

Motion pictures of the terrible Eastland disaster, in which hundreds of people lost their lives in the Chicago river recently, have been secured by the Airdome for Thursday. The pictures tell the story far more graphically than paper and ink. This picture is one of the first out, being released only last week.

Tuesday the Airdome starts a series of complete plays known under the general title of "Under the Crescent," all featuring the popular Princess Hassan. "The Purple Iris," is the subject of the first installment.

WONDERLAND.

"The Goose Girl," one of the "six best" of a recent season and the book which contributed in so great a measure to Harold McGrath's success as a novelist, has been put into movies and little Marguerite Clarke has been chosen by the wise heads to "season" this really remarkable play.

"The Goose Girl" has been billed by the Wonderland for Wednesday, through the Famous Player Bureau.

"After Five," is the terse but eloquent title of Friday's Famous Player which will offer Edward Abeles. The play is another DeMille production.

A good Elaine Episode is on the bill for Tuesday. Another Episode or two will end the present Elaine series, which is to be followed, according to announcement, by a new Elaine serial entitled "The Adventures of Elaine."

COLONIAL.

"The Cowboy and the Lady," will be the real big bill at the Colonial this week.

This is one of the tip-top Clyde Fitch assortment, released through the big Metro corporation.

Thursday is the date set for "The Cowboy and the Lady," which goes five acts with S. Miller Kent in the lead.

"For the Sake of a False Friend," is the name of the fifth installment of "The Diamond from the Sky" series showing at the Colonial Tuesday.

COURT OF APPEALS COMPLETES WORK; SPLENDID RECORD

The Court of Appeals for this district has wound up its business for the summer—cleared the docket of every one of the eleven counties in the district—and goes into vacation for a brief period. It has made a record such as few courts of any state have ever made, and the people of the district, as well as the judges themselves, are to be congratulated.

In the first place the court is happily constituted. It is non-partisan, and was elected upon a non-partisan ballot. Two of the members "happen to be" Republican and one is a Democrat. It would be unfortunate if in the selection of the three judges all three of them should belong to one political party. No matter how sincere and earnest the court so constituted might be, its decisions in political questions would not have the confidence of the people generally that they have where the judges belong to different parties. The voters of the district should see to it that never, under any circumstances are three Republicans or three Democrats elected to the bench.

Then, a fortunate feature of the court is that the three larger cities of the district are each represented by a judge. Judge Ferneding resides at Dayton; Judge Allread lives at Columbus; Judge Kunkle's home is at Springfield. These three cities furnish a majority of the litigation, and the residence of a judge in each of the cities is especially fortunate.

There is not a court in the land, perhaps, where the judges are higher type of men. All three of them are without blemish, able and learned, each enjoying the respect and confidence of the people of his district as well as the esteem of the people of the entire district. Neither of the judges comes under the head of a "political," and none of them were elected because of his political affiliations.

The record made by the court during the few years it has been in existence as a court of appeals—for it must be remembered that it used to be the circuit court—is said by members of the bar and by justices of the supreme court, to be unsurpassed. And, after all, that is the test of the courts—the records that they make.—Dayton News.

MOTORCYCLIST BADLY INJURED

Wilder Weimer was seriously injured late this afternoon while riding a motorcycle near Greenfield.

He was picked up in an unconscious condition and taken to the home of J. D. Howland, on the Greenfield pike. The extent of his injuries are unknown.

To the Voters of Washington.

H. Ohio:

I again call your attention to my candidacy in the Republican Primary for the nomination for the office of City Solicitor. My opponent is Mr. Pope Gregg, the present incumbent. He is seeking an election to a fourth term of that office. He has held the position six years, held the office of County Prosecuting Attorney for four years, and has also held the office of Referee in Bankruptcy in Fayette County. His brother and law-partner, Mr. Nye Gregg, who is at present holding the office of Official Examiner of Titles of Fayette County, served the City both as Solicitor and the County as Prosecuting Attorney, Union Township as Township Clerk, and his brother, the late Ace Gregg, represented the county as Prosecuting Attorney two terms and as Judge of the Court of Common Pleas for several years.

I appeal to you in the interest of fairness if the family haven't been allotted their share of public favor. The undersigned has never held office, is not a chronic office seeker, but believes that these public positions should be occasionally passed around and not held in trust by one family.

I shall appreciate your support tomorrow, and if nominated and elected assure you that I shall do everything in my power to perform the duties of the office with fidelity and for the public good.

Thanking you in advance for any favor you may bestow, I am,
Most sincerely yours,
T. L. BARGER.

PICTURESQUE "JAPLAND."

Beautiful, flowery Japan, with its wonderful color schemes, gold, silver and tinsel, is profusely illustrated in the stage settings used in "Japland," an operatic minstrel farce-comedy which comes to the Empire Theater August 13th.

The offering is a novelty because of its absolute newness of idea and construction, containing a bit or two from every form of stage creation, opera, farce and minstrelsy predominating. The fact that a girl chorus of twenty is carried will be welcome news to the followers of minstrelsy, for, while John W. Vogel's Big Minstrels have ever been sufficient in itself to pack a theater, many theatergoers want to see and hear the girls, they of trim forms and beautiful voices together with their ability to cavort, pirouette and dance, and Mr. Vogel claims to have the best singing-dancing chorus ever seen in a play-house. advt.

GIVEN A HEAVY FINE FOR RESISTING ARREST

Wes Gilman, of Parrett's Station, was fined $50 and costs, and $5 and costs, in the Mayor's court Monday morning, after pleading guilty to charges of resisting arrest and drunkenness. He was released on settlement.

Officer Bell found Gilman asleep on a doorstep near the Crone livery barn on Fayette street about 3 o'clock Sunday morning. He tapped Gilman on the shoulder. Gilman awoke, recognized the officer and made a lunge at him. Both went down in each other's clutch and rolled over the sidewalk. Employees from the livery barn came out and assisted the officer. Gilman was put in jail.

BUILDING WALL AROUND COURT HOUSE YARD

Workmen began Monday work preliminary to the construction of a cement retaining wall around the court house yard, extending from the sheriff's residence to the Sharp memorial.

NEWS OF THE DIAMOND

Rain Jims Ball Game.

With the grandstand and bleachers literally packed with humanity and every foot of standing room and parking space in use at North End park, Wilmington, Sunday afternoon, a little cloud-burst got busy and put a highly successful crimp in the Athletic-Clinton game.

The game was to have been the fifth of the series of six arranged, and by far the most important of the season to date by reason of the 2-2 tie existing. In accordance with the contract, it was announced Monday, the game will be played at Wilmington next Sunday instead, and the game to have been played here between the Athletics and Decker's Queen City outfit will have to be cancelled.

The appearance of black clouds over Washington about noon and the accompanying atmospheric indications of rain ahead, did not in the least jar the optimism of the local team or the many rooters that accompanied it, leaving here about 12:30 in automobiles.

The rain began about 2 o'clock, while the Athletics were in the midst of field practice on the Clinton diamond. It quickly developed into a heavy downpour and few, save those in curtained automobiles, escaped a wetting. A shifting wind blew the rain into the grandstand from all directions and before the storm was over there were very few fans remaining, most of them having preferred "making a run for it" to sitting in the exposed stand.

Rainchecks will bring most of the attendance back to next Sunday's game.

The Clintons had patched up a little for the game. Ollie Chapman, manager of the Maysville state leaguers, last year, had been signed for second base and Ducky Holmes of the Virginia Coal and Coke league, was out in a Clinton suit.

CARRANZA USING THE MAILED FIST

Brazilian Minister Said to Have Left Mexico to Prevent Dismissal By Gen Carranza, Whom it Is Claimed May Proclaim Himself Provisional President of Mexico—Pan-American Conference Reopens Wednesday.

By Associated Press. The impression in Mexican circles here is that Carranza proposes to establish himself in Mexico City and probably proclaim himself provisional president in the face of the Pan-American effort to bring the factions together. American naval commanders at Vera Cruz have been ordered to place a warship at the disposal of the two diplomats if they wish it.

Washington, August 9.—Secretary Lansing announced today that the Pan-American conference on Mexican affairs would be resumed in New York City, Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, at the Baltimore Hotel. He said he did not know how prolonged the conference would be.

Washington, August 9.—Charles A. Douglas, counsel here for Carranza, said he did not believe the General contemplated giving the Brazilian minister his passports. Other representatives of Carranza, however, had no hesitancy in saying the Brazilian minister was particularly distasteful to General Carranza and they expected his stay in Mexico City would be terminated.

General Carranza is preparing an address to the American people. In the nature of an appeal for consideration, to which he believes he is entitled, and setting forth in an absolute way the claims upon which he bases his conclusions that his government should be recognized.

It was said by Carranza agents that neither the Guatemalan or the Brazilian had been on good terms with Carranza and that it had been Carranza's intention to hand the Brazilian his passports as soon as he again reoccupied Mexico City.

The participation of Brazil and Guatemala in the Pan-American conference, they said, brought Carranza resentment to a climax.

State Department advices today said General Carranza was making hurried preparations to move his capital from Vera Cruz to Mexico City. Clerks have been moving the archives to the capital since Friday.

with a total loss of $25,000, partly covered by insurance. The entire village was for a time threatened with destruction. It has a population of about 500.

TURKISH WARSHIP IS SUNK

By Associated Press.

A majority of the officers and men composing the crew of the battleship was saved. The vessel was built in Germany in 1891 and was purchased from Germany by Turkey in 1910. Her complement consisted of about 600 officers and men.

650,000 ITALIAN TROOPS WILL BE SENT TO FRANCE OR TO THE DARDANELLES

Austro-German Forces Striking Hard at Retreating Russians and Claim Slavic Forces Have Been Separated By Thrust—Novo Georgievsk Is Cut Off—Great Throngs of Refugees Sleeping in Woods—Dardanelles Campaign Growing in Importance—Teutonic Offensive in the West Is Growing—Germans Cross Vistula at Warsaw—Next Great Blow Will Be Against Serbia.

By Associated Press.

New York, August 9.—Italy will send 650,000 fresh troops to either France or the Dardanelles within the next three weeks, according to a captain in the Italian army who arrived here today on an Italian steamer to buy war supplies.

He said the troops had been assembled and that between 150 and 200 large transports were ready to convey the men.

London, August 9.—Austrian and German troops are striking hard at the retreating lines of the Russians in Poland.

Berlin today reported the forcing of the Vistula and the taking of Praga, on the east bank, while Austrian reports declare the Russian armies, falling back in the Vistula region, have been divided by telling blows.

The Germans continue to advance eastward from Praga.

The German statement claims the pursuing of Field Marshal von Hindenburg's troops closer to the fortress of Kovno, and the cutting off of Novo Georgievsk in the east between the Narew and the Vistula.

The Russians also are being hard pushed by Field Marshal von Mackensen's armies to the south, the statement adds.

Capture of numerous prisoners is reported from the various fronts.

German attacks along the western front on the allied positions are continuing with apparently increased intensity, but without success, according to the Paris Statement.

Berlin mentions the development of a battle east of Ypres, but does not record the outcome.

French attempts to advance in the Argonne were stopped, it is declared.

The shooting down of French aeroplanes at various points along the front is reported.

London, August 9.—Russia having rejected what, in England, is regarded as a boni fide proposal made by the German emperor for peace, with a part of Poland traded for Galicia, the great struggle in the east must continue, and as there is no indication of an immediate offensive by either side in the west, the struggle of the Russian forces to shake themselves free of the Austro-German grip remains the chief factor in the war news, with an added interest in the Dardanelles operations.

The Gallipoli field will be closely watched because of its possible bearing on the Balkan situation, again simmering by reason of renewed allied pressure on Bulgaria and Greece.

Never before has the importance of the operations of the Dardanelles been more keenly realized in Great Britain and France than now; especially as there are many indications that Germany plans to deliver her next hard blow against Serbia in order to link up with Turkey and thus checkmate the spring plans of the entente allied powers.

It is increasingly manifest that Germany looks to the east for a settlement of the war.

By overrunning Serbia she would occupy a very favorable strategic position to invoke Bulgaria's passive or active aid in reaching Constantinople along the main line.

The expectations of such a move doubtless has brought about renewed negotiations between the entente allies and Bulgaria.

Berlin, via London, August 9.—Praga, the suburb of Warsaw on the eastern bank of the Vistula, has been occupied by German troops, according to an official statement issued today.

Petrograd, August 9.—Refugees from Courland continue to pour into Riga by the thousands. As far as possible quarters have been provided for them, but throngs nevertheless are sleeping in the woods.

ESCAPE FROM LEAVENWORTH

Leavenworth, Kans., August 9.—Three prisoners escaped from the United States penitentiary today. The men broke a lock on a door leading to a tunnel under the prison. # FINANCING REBUILDING OF MEXICO

Secretary McAdoo to Approach Wall Street Magnates.

HAS OUTLINE OF PROGRAM

After Conferences With President Wilson and Secretary Lansing He Can Tell Financiers Just How Far the United States Will Go in Guaranteeing Peace and Suppressing New Revolutionary Outbreaks.

New York, Aug. 9.—Secretary of State Lansing and Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo held a conference here in regard to the financing of the administration's plan for the upbuilding of Mexico.

After their meeting, the place of which was kept secret, Secretary Lansing hurried back to Washington without making any statement for the press. Secretary McAdoo remained here. He also refused to make any comment on the results of the conference.

From authoritative sources, however, it was learned that the two men discussed in detail President Wilson's plan for the reconstruction of Mexico. Secretary Lansing laid before Secretary McAdoo the details of the proposed financing of the war-ridden country and also the extent to which the government is ready to go in restoring peace there.

Secretary McAdoo, it is learned, will approach certain financial interests in this city with the aim of ascertaining whether those bankers will back such a loan and on what terms. Naturally, the bankers will wish to know exactly what the United States will do in guaranteeing peace there and what steps it will take in suppressing any more revolutionary outbreaks. It is said that Secretary McAdoo, after his talks with President Wilson and Secretary Lansing, can lay a definite program before the bankers.

It was reported in one quarter that the financial group that will be approached comprise J. P. Morgan & Co., Kuhn, Loeb & Co., Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co., Halgarten & Co., Speyer & Co. and Hayden, Stone & Co. It is hinted that the Guaranty Trust company may be asked to participate in the underwriting of the proposed loan.

GENERAL CARRANZA TO MAKE STATEMENT

The Expert's Report

Council has received and considered the report of Mr. Jones, the lighting expert from Cleveland. That part of the report which has been given to the public seems to be just about the kind of suggestion that the city has had need of for some time.

Of course it must be remembered that only part of Mr. Jones' report is given out for public consideration at this time, and we must not be too hasty in falling in with the suggestions made. There are many detail facts and figures—hard facts and cold figures—which must enter into the final consideration of the problem with which the city council is wrestling—how best to light Washington and stay within our municipal income.

There are other "experts" to be consulted and to submit facts and figures along with those Mr. Jones must suggest. The local light company has had experience in furnishing the mysterious current which illuminates the streets of the city and the "experts" by experience of that company must yet submit their report to be considered along with that of Mr. Jones.

Of course both working to the same end—a better system of lighting and more light for Washington—it is not improbable that in the final analysis the Cleveland expert and the local company may agree. Then having determined upon just what the city wants and should have it remains only for the keepers of the public exchequer to calculate with pencil and paper until they are able to answer the last and most important question—can we afford to have what we desire.

It is not difficult to show how the present lighting system may be improved on. It is with the detail of installing and maintaining the improvement which will present the greatest problem. Upon that question Mr. Jones' public report is yet silent.

The city needed Mr. Jones' advice and it's good as far as the public is permitted to know what that advice is and judging the whole by the part submitted it is reasonable to presume that Mr. Jones has worked out the entire problem but that presumption is by no means conclusive.

The people are to be encouraged in their demand for improvement, but they should be careful not to adopt the first suggestion made until it has proven its worth. Progressiveness is commendable and very much to be desired if tempered with enough of that, at present unpopular, conservatism to forbid its development in sheer recklessness.

The Old Pioneers

Each death that occurs in the ranks of our older citizens, as one by one they answer the final summons, causes us to be charitable with that lack of "up to dateness" which so many folks permit to be a source of annoyance now days.

When those old pioneers, at the age of three score, four score and more, give up the battle of life and enter into that realm where they never get behind the times so many folks realize, for the first time, that the sturdy qualities of rugged, homely, honest and plain frankness, almost to the point of bluntness, were the qualities which their age and time demanded and emphasized.

When they were young and engaged in the battle which made the wilds yield to man's demands for support, nature presented in the wilderness, no problems which could be solved by diplomacy.

It was a square out fight for existence. There was no use for society manners, no call for an easy way. It was a battle for existence with no quarter asked or given.

Every time one of the old settlers, who have been growing more and more out of touch with the present during the last score of years, dies we realize what a tremendous task his was and how well his work was done and how much we, of the present day with time and opportunity for the more refined pursuits, owe to the old timers.

How sad it is that this realization of true worth, this sense of deep obligation does not always come, with all its force, during the life time of these hardy old pioneers so that not only might their declining years be made happier by a closer companionship, but that we of the present could benefit by a more intimate knowledge of just how honestly and faithfully the men of a time that is gone, met their problems and solved them in order that posterity might enjoy to the full the fruits of their labors which in this day and time yielded, grudgingly, only the barest necessities.

The men still with us who drained the swamps of this vast garden spot and cleared away the forests have but few years before them and folks of this day should not fail to realize this real worth until after the earth has closed over their caskets.

Poetry For Today

THE EPICURE.

I've sipped a rich man's sparkling wine,
His silverware I've handled,
I've placed these battered legs of mine
Neath tables gayly candel.
I dine on rare and costly fare
When'er good fortune lets me
But there's no meal that can compare
With those the missus gets me.

I've had your staks three inches thick
With all your Sam Ward trimmings,
I've had the breast of milk-fed chick
In luscious gravy swimming.
To dine in swell cafe or club
But irritates and frets me,
Give me the plain and wholesome grub—
The grub the missus gets me.

Two kiddies smiling at the board,
The cook right at the table,
The four of us, a hungry horde,
To beat that none is able.
A big meat pie, with flaky crust!
'Tis then that joy besets me;
Oh, I could eat, until I "bust"
Those meals the missus gets me.

Statistics furnished by the department of commerce indicate that the foreign trade of the United States did not really increase in the fiscal year 1914-15—that is to say, that, while there was an increase of almost 1 per cent over that of the corresponding period of 1912-13, there would in normal times have been an increase of probably 6 or 8 per cent. The trade in 1913-14, of course, fell off, and that of this year would have been lower but for the spurt in exports of war munitions. It is doubtful if the profits of this trade offset the loss which may be traced to the war in other lines. Our trade thrives best when we sell goods normally consumed in time of peace and take in payment goods needed for consumption here.

PRINCE LOUIS MAKES CLAIM TO THE HONOR

Declares He, Not Churchill, Kept English Fleet Mobilized.

London, Aug. 9.—Much interest has been aroused by the confirmation from Prince Louis of Battenberg that it was he and not Winston Spencer Churchill who issued the famous order to mobilize the fleet at the beginning of the war. From the outset Mr. Churchill, then first lord of the admiralty, has received the highest praise for his foresight in having the British fleet mobilized at the critical moment. Some time ago, however, F. T. Jane, a well known naval expert, publicly announced that Prince Louis of Battenberg deserved this credit. It will be recalled that shortly after the war began Prince Louis of Battenberg resigned as first sea lord because of bitter criticism, based chiefly on the fact of his German descent.

And now comes the article by the prince himself in the Standard, finally clearing the matter up and making it plain that it was he and not Mr. Churchill who ordered the mobilization of the fleet.

"When the war came," says Mr. Jane, "the British navy was ready and waiting. This fact is generally put down to Mr. Churchill. We have all read it in the press and we have all believed it, but it was the first sea lord of those days, Prince Louis of Battenberg, who kept the fleet together. He it was who saved us the horrors of Belgium."

The confirmation of Mr. Jane's assertion as it appears in the Standard is: "It is quite true that it was your humble servant and not Mr. Churchill who was spending the week end at Cromer with his wife. It was I who ordered all ships to stand fast instead of demobilizing as ordered."

Sir Robertson, M. P., explains why Prince Louis did not let the world know before the great service he had performed for the country by keeping the fleet mobilized. He says that Prince Louis seemed to think that if the facts were published some sort of injury to the national interests might result.

It is generally agreed that the action of Prince Louis saved England from invasion at the outbreak of the war by an enormous number of picked German troops. Mr. Jane says that 100,000 German troops were actually embarked and were on their way to the east coast when the unexpected preparedness of the British fleet made them turn back.

THE LACE OF VENICE.

An Ancient Industry That Was Revived by Queen Margherita.

The lace of Venice has been celebrated for many centuries. It was made originally by nuns within the walls of convents for ecclesiastical garments. Then, with the fall of the Venetian republic, the convents were closed and the lace industry ceased to exist for an entire century.

In 1870 the Princess Margherita, afterward queen of Italy, took measures to revive it, especially as a means of providing employment for Venetian women. At present there are several schools, subsidized by the government, in which the art is taught.

The pupils are women of all ages. Each sits on a low stool and holds a plump, square cushion in her lap. On this cushion is pinned a strip of paper marked with the pattern to be followed, and into this pattern the nimble fingered worker sticks glass headed pins, about which she twists her threads. From twenty to fifty shuttles depend from all sides of the cushion, and these are thrown across and back with the rapidity of a typist handling the keys of her machine.

The process looks so simple that it looks like play, but the lace produced represents thousands of dollars. The simple laces grow rapidly under the dexterous fingers of the women, but the exquisite rose point and other similar sorts are evolved much more slowly.—Harper's Weekly.

Tantalizing Ownership.

In a French village a citizen had upon his land a part of an old building containing two very beautiful windows. He was in debt and embarrassed and eagerly closed with the offer of a rich archaeologist, who bought them. Thereupon the government inspector, hearing of the bargain, arrived just in time to stop the masons from dislodging the windows. "You cannot," he said to the villager, "sell antiquities, my man." "But, excellency, I have used the money and paid my creditors." The villager was in despair, but the official was untouched. "That's all right," he said. "The money is safe. The windows are no longer yours. But the buyer cannot move a stone of them. He can, however, come with a camp stool and sit down and look at his property as much as he likes."

History repeats itself. Back in the "forties" General Zach Taylor pled his warning from the bank of the Rio Grande to the Mexican adventurer on the other side. "If you can't keep your ruffians in order I'll come over and do it for you!" Now the ultimatum is from the banks of the Potomac, but Washington's arm has a swifter, longer reach than it had sixty odd years ago.

NEW BRICK AND STONE UNION STATION PROMISED BY B. & O.

Splendid Structure to Be Erected Before Winter Sets In, and Will Be in Keeping With Remainder of City—Energetic Vice President A. W. Thompson Pleased With Enthusiasm Shown and Proves His Right to Term, "The Man Who Does Things"—Local Citizens Are Delighted With Prompt Action of B. & O. in Response to Appeal for Better Passenger Facilities—"Hatchet Buried"—New Roadway for Traffic Will Be Necessary for Big Improvement.

A splendid new brick and stone Union Station will be erected in this city before winter weather sets in. This was the pleasing announcement made to more than 100 representative business men of the city, by Mr. A. W. Thompson, first vice-president of the B. & O. railroad and "the man who does things" on the B. & O.

When the announcement was made to the business men assembled in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium Monday morning a storm of applause broke forth and three rousing cheers for the B. & O. were shouted with hearty good will.

Mr. Thompson's announcement, which is of great interest and importance to all local citizens, was made at a conference held immediately after he had been escorted about the city by a half score of automobile parties, had been handed the "glad hand" generally and had obtained, as he admitted, a much more comprehensive idea of what Washington C. H. and her citizens really are.

The original plan was to meet Mr. Thompson at luncheon, but early Monday morning the word was passed among the business men that Mr. Thompson's private car would be in this city at eight o'clock, and shortly after that time a delegation, headed by Mr. Will Worthington and Hon. C. A. Reid, met Mr. Thompson and his associates, and after a short inspection of the B. & O. station vicinity, the party of visitors was escorted about the city that they might know Washington is entering upon a new epoch of progressiveness.

Upon the return to the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Worthington introduced Mr. Reid, who presented the city's case to the visiting officials. Mr. Reid pointed out the fact that the present facilities were and always had been entirely out of keeping with the remainder of the city; that the city was entering upon a new era of progressiveness and desired a Union Station adequate to accommodate the traveling public in appropriate manner, and that a depot was desired so located that it would not be necessary to cross the tracks to get to it. Mr. Reid stated that owing to the facilities at the present time, some citizens had long harbored a "sore" spot over the passenger station facilities. In concluding his address he introduced Mr. Thompson.

Instead of a gruff railroad official expected by some, Mr. Thompson is a man of pleasing address and had not been upon the floor two minutes until he had made a friend of every man present. Mr. Thompson was here not only in his own official capacity, but with full instructions from President Willard himself to act as Mr. Willard's personal representative and every word uttered by Mr. Thompson carried the same weight as if uttered by President Willard himself.

Mr. Thompson expressed his pleasure and surprise at the magnitude of the reception and regretted that he was unable to lunch with local citizens as originally planned.

After discussing the train service of the B. & O. and stating that the depot was not in keeping with the remainder of the city, he said:

"The nature of this reception shows me that it isn't a question of what you want—it is a question of what you are going to get." He then announced that a new union station to be used by the B. & O., C. H. & D. and D. T. & I. railroads, would be erected before bad weather sets in. It was then he was interrupted by applause and three ringing cheers.

He further stated that the plans would be for a brick and stone structure, with large waiting rooms, private smoking room, ladies' private waiting room, toilets and other accommodations, and that the depot would be set on the south side of Paint street near the intersection of the B. & O., D. T. & I. and C. H. & D. railroads, and so arranged as to give the best possible service.

He had been assured that the question of changing the thoroughfare in accordance with the station plans, would be taken care of by council, he stated, and that within 30 days plans for the new station would be placed in the hands of Mayor Coffey, and another meeting would be held with the Dutch Treat Club to obtain approval of the plans by the local citizens.

The cost of moving the tracks to conform with the new plans will be several thousand dollars, he announced, and the cost of the station will be heavy.

Mr. Thompson said the B. & O. and C. H. & D. and he felt sure the D. T. & I. also would use the station. "Judging from what I have seen here I know the D. T. & I. will do what you have asked," he said.

Continuing Mr. Thompson said: "It is our intention of erecting a station that will be in keeping with the remainder of the city, and we believe you will like our proposal very much."

He regretted that feeling against the B. & O. had existed, and hoped that it would subside and that the B. & O. was anxious to enjoy all of the business local citizens could give it. This was the only reference he made to the movement launched sometime ago to make it plain that this city wanted a new station, by throwing business to other railroads.

Gen. Supt. R. N. Begiens made a few remarks, stating that he was pleased with Mr. Thompson's action; that the present depot was not what the city should have and that he would take great pleasure in carrying out the plans of Mr. Thompson in erecting the new station.

G. D. Brooks, Division Superintendent and W. B. Calloway, also made brief response when called upon by Chairman Worthington. Mr. Calloway recalled a previous conference here when the reception was very cold, and joined his auditors in the general laugh over the affair.

After viewing plans for the new lighting system and expressing the hope that the "white way" would be extended to the Union Station, Mr. Thompson and his associates were escorted to their private cars, and left the city for the east at 10:42 a. m.

At an early meeting of council steps will be taken to properly provide for traffic which now uses the street leading past the B. & O. station.

When the new station is erected, the street will be abandoned at that point, and will be extended either south and west of the new station, or some means arranged to the north of the tracks.

The new station will be so located that platforms will extend along all three railroads. The B. & O.

Three Cheers for the B. & O. —AND— Our New Union Station

tracks will be thrown further south on Paint street, and a large driveway will be arranged in front of the station, or to the east. Plans submitted by the committee, were readily approved. Within a short time definite plans for proper changing of the street will be submitted.

No little credit for obtaining the Union Station rests upon Mr. Will Worthington, who, backed by the Dutch Treat Club, and particularly by a splendid committee, has worked untiringly to gain an audience with Mr. Thompson and present the city's case.

LIGHTNING HITS AND DESTROYS BARN

During the heavy electric storm which swept over central Fayette county between two and three o'clock Sunday morning, lightning struck and completely destroyed the Fred Hamm barn on the Robinson road, two miles east of this city.

It was the third time the barn had been singled out by storms this summer, the structure being damaged one week ago Saturday, and during the tornado of July.

Within a few minutes after the lightning hit the barn, the structure was enveloped in flames and soon burned to the ground, together with all it contained, which included 27 tons of hay, tools and machinery. A cattle shed also was burned to the ground.

The flames lighted the heavens so that the fire could be seen for many miles.

Mr. Hamm's loss will be about $1,000 above all insurance. He was insured in the Ohio Farmer company.

DEATH OF A COW CAUSES LITIGATION

A case styled Augusta H. Sheridan against Wm. Arbaugh has been carried up from the court of Justice Craig to the common pleas court, following the awarding of judgment in the sum of $50 to the plaintiff for the death of a Jersey heifer, killed by a tree being felled upon her.

Plaintiff claims that on June 5th the defendant, through his servants, negligently and unlawfully cut and felled a tree which killed the heifer. Judgment in the full amount was granted and the defendant later carried the case to the common pleas court.

Post & Reid represent the plaintiff and A. R. Creamer the defendant.

FUNERAL TOMORROW

REACHES HOME AFTER HARD DRIVE

Undertaker Klever, accompanied by Mr. Clore Thompson of The Riddle Coach Hearse Co., of Ravenna, arrived in this city at eight o'clock Friday night, driving through from Ravenna the handsome auto hearse and ambulance, which is Mr. Klever's latest equipment to his undertaking establishment.

The new car, the very latest idea in motor construction, has attracted no little attention since its arrival. It has the new limousine closed front and the interior can be removed, leaving a solid surface of mahogany, which makes it perfectly sanitary.

The car is 50-horse power and equipped with continental motor, the largest Timkin axle that the Timkin Co. makes, and Silvertown cord tires.

It is most striking in appearance, of French silver gray, with mountings of silver plate all through and elaborate carving.

One of the most desirable features of the car is the spring cot, the newest thing in spring suspension, which can be adjusted for either reclining or sitting, with one move of the hand.

Messrs Klever and Thompson left Ravenna, where the car was purchased from the Riddle Coach and Hearse Co., at four o'clock Wednesday.

day afternoon and found the roads so bad between there and Zanesville that they caused considerable delay.

REIGN OF THE AUTOMOBILE.

It Will Cost This Country This Year Over a Billion Dollars.

On June 1 the number of automobiles in the United States passed the 2,000,000 mark for the first time, which leads the Scientific American to make the following calculation:

"To run 2,000,000 cars for one year requires at the very least 1,000,000,000 (one billion) gallons of "gas," worth $130,000,000; 20,000,000 gallons of lubricating oil, worth $8,000,000; 12,000,000 tires, worth not less than $16 apiece, or $192,000,000; accessories and extra comforts, goggles, gloves and caps at $50 per car, equal $100,000,000; garage charges on short tours (exclusive of gas and oil), $100 per car per year, $200,000,000; repairs made necessary by wear, tear and accident (exclusive of tires), $50 per car per year, equal $100,000,000.

"According to these figures the total running expenses for all the cars in use amount to $730,000,000. Add thereto the value of the 600,000 new cars purchased during the year at an average price of $750, which equals $450,000,000, and we get the immense total of $1,180,000,000 spent in a single year (1915) on the sport of motoring."

Aeroplanes in Warfare.

Without the aeroplane in its numerous forms the present war would have been waged on utterly different lines at almost every point. Either the trench warfare would have been indefinitely prolonged or there would have been an ever recurrent number of surprise attacks, with alternate success and defeats, and a ceaseless shifting of the balance of advantage, and when so many millions of troops were engaged, over fronts of unprecedented lengths, heaven alone knows how the commanders in chief would have controlled their forces or directed their tactics. In any future war no country will take the field without regarding its "fourth arm" as its most precious and indispensable factor.—Charles L. Freeston in Scribner's.

British army recruits in Canada get a paragraph in the newspapers because they stop drilling to harvest crops. Well, our forefathers licked the forebears of these recruits by going armed into the fields and stopping harvest from time to time to shoot redcoats. It was all in a day's work for them.

CZAR NOT READY TO TALK PEACE

Spurns Proposals of Kaiser Through Danish Court.

SLAVS CONFIDENT OF VICTORY

Moscow Millionaire Declares Army Will Retire, if Necessary, as Far as Ural Mountains, and Will Fight to the Last Man — Servia Agrees to Transfer Macedonia to Bulgaria. Greece Ready to Grant Concessions.

Petrograd, Aug. 9.—Emperor Nicholas has spurned the first terms of peace broached by Emperor William. It is stated in the Bourse Gazette.

The offer was made last week through King Christian X. of Denmark according to this paper, which asserts the information comes from an unimpeachable source.

"The question of peace negotiations can not be raised at the present time," is the brief message the czar is reported to have returned to the king.

The Danish queen is a German princess, Alexandrine of Mecklenburg, and the Russian emperor is a son of a sister of the late Christian IX. of Denmark.

Confirming the determination of Russia to continue the war with all the powers at the empire's command is the declaration of M. Rjabouchinsky, the Moscow millionaire, before the munitions organization committee.

"We shall retire if necessary as far as the Ural mountains. We shall fight to the last man, but we shall gain victory," he said.

The general committees appointed to organize industries for military purposes began their labors under the presidency of Alexander Guczkoff, formerly president of the duma. Representatives of all parts of the empire attended the committee meetings.

An attempt was made to assassinate M. Neratoff, assistant Russian minister of foreign affairs. The assailant, a former official of the department, rushed into the assistant minister's room, brandishing an ax. When this weapon was wrested from him he drew a revolver, but was overpowered by attendants before he was able to fire. The man was dismissed two years ago and is believed to be demented.

There is much interest in the diplomatic negotiations in the Balkan capitals, the reports from which indicate that Servia at last is willing to cede Macedonia to Bulgaria, but that the Greek government is now opposing any suggestion that she should return Kavala, the seaport in the vilayet of Saloniki, to Bulgaria. It is thought, however, that this opposition may be changed when M. Venizelos returns to power, which is expected when the Greek parliament reassembles early in September.

THE GERMAN STATEMENT

Berlin, Aug. 9.—The official statement follows: "French hand grenade attacks near Souchez and counter attacks against the trench taken from the French in the western Argonne on Friday were repulsed. Fighting on the Vosges, north of Muenster, was renewed Saturday afternoon. The night, however, was quiet."

"Eastern theater: German troops on the Narew are approaching the Lomza-Ostrov-Wyszkow road. At some points the enemy has offered stubborn resistance. South of Wyszkow, the river Bug has been reached. Sereck, at the mouth of the Bug, has been occupied. Near Novogeorgievsk our siege troops took the forts at Segre. Near Warsaw we gained the eastern bank of the Vistula."

Southeastern theater: Under the pressure of troops under Field Marshal Von Mackensen the Russians are retreating in an easterly direction. Between the Vistula and the Bug the left wing of the group of armies under Field Marshal Von Mackensen has driven back the enemy in a northerly direction. The right wing is still fighting in the direction of the river Nieprz."

CAUSED NOT EVEN A RIPPLE

New York, Aug. 9.—George W. Perkins issued a statement accusing Frederick M. Davenport, who last fall was the Progressive candidate for governor, of having tried to wreck the Progressive party in this state before deserting it for the Republican party. Mr. Perkins said:

"Mr. Davenport's withdrawal from the Progressive party will not cause any letup in the party's activities in this state. He only withdrew after doing his best while still a member of the party to wreck its organization in various parts of the state. In this he failed, and his general conduct, I am satisfied, will tend to increase the activities of the membership of the party."

ON TRAIL OF KIDNAPED BOY

New York, Aug. 9.—James Glass, the four-year-old son of Charles Glass, an auditor for the Erie railroad, living in Jersey City, who was kidnaped at Greeley, Pike county, Pa., on May 12 last, is believed to be in Norman, Okla. A message to this effect has been received by Frank Hague, director of public safety of Jersey City, from the chief of police of Norman. According to advices from Norman, William Malore, who is in the shoe business, advertised that he wanted to adopt a small boy. On July 4 a woman left a child, answering in detail the description of the Glass boy, at the house, and promised to call on the following day to execute adoption papers. She did not appear, however.

THE COAL ORDER IS EXPLAINED

London, Aug. 9. — A foreign office statement explains that the recent order prohibiting the exportation of coal to other than British possessions does not mean a total prohibition of this trade. Firms making shipments to such places hereafter merely will be required to obtain a special license. The order was necessary in consequence of legislation regulating the price of coal in Great Britain.

DR. ORTEGA TURNED OUT

Washington, Aug. 9. — Administration officials who were inclined to believe that a peace parley between Mexican factions might soon result independent of the appeal to the military leaders which will go forward from Pan-American nations, are not so sanguine. Reports from Mexico City that Dr. Juan J. Ortega, the Guatemalan minister there, had been given his passports by General Carranza and ordered to leave the country within twenty-four hours, were responsible for the change of mind. Inasmuch as Guatemala is represented in the Latin-American conference, Carranza's drastic action is regarded here as indicating a disposition of unfriendliness toward the conference.

Ortega's forced departure from Mexico, together with the departure of G. Cordosa, the Brazilian minister at Mexico City, will leave in the Mexican capital no diplomatic representatives of any of the seven nations participating in the Mexican conference.

FRICTION AMONG ALLIED OFFICERS

Berlin, Aug. 9. — Telegrams from Athens give reports of increasing friction between French and British officers on Gallipoli peninsula. It has been necessary to forbid them to converse with each other. The French accuse the British of having lost courage on account of their heavy losses.

FIGHT ON A STEAMBOAT

New York, Aug. 9. — An outing of 1,200 members and friends of the Newark aerie of Eagles on the steamer Isabella and the barge Empire, which she towed, developed into a free-for-all fight over the war between Italians and Germans armed with beer bottles, glasses and camp stools. While the melee was in full swing a man fell overboard and was drowned, a woman, who also fell overboard, was rescued, and another woman excursionist gave birth to a child.

The Isabella's captain tried to pacify his passengers, but was driven to the pilot house. Nearing Hastings-on-the-Hudson he blew the whistle for aid, but the police there would not let him land his turbulent excursionists, so he turned the Isabella's prow out into the stream again. Then the baby was born.

PETROGRAD ROAD NOW THREATENED

Germans Within Five or Six Miles of Line.

RUSSIAN ARMY IN GRAVE PERIL

Teutons Report Fall of Three Forts at Novogeorgivsk and That They Have Crossed the River Bug North of Zerock—Latest News From Eastern War Zone Creates Great Fear in Minds of English Military Critics.

London, Aug. 9. — The fate of the Russian armies that have retired from Warsaw is hourly becoming more hazardous. Wireless dispatches from Berlin say that the Germans have occupied Zerock, at the confluence of the Bug and the Narew, and that they have crossed the Bug north of Zerock and south of Wyszokow.

This means that they are within five or six miles of the all important Warsaw-Petrograd railway, which, if cut before the Russian troops escape, will mean the almost certain envelopment and capture of an enormous army.

With Zerock in their possession and a crossing of the Bug already effected to the north, additional German forces are rapidly approaching the Lomza-Ostrow-Wyszokow road. This road runs in a northeasterly direction from Zerock, Lomza, the farthest removed town, being seventy miles away. The Russian forces are supposed to have entrenched themselves strongly along this line, but even if they are able to hold the Germans temporarily, it is doubtful if much will be gained unless the force which already has crossed the Bug south of Wyszokow is held.

Meanwhile, the fate of Novogeorgivsk, the Vistula fortress north of Warsaw, which the Russians have insisted can withstand a four months' siege, is none too sure. Berlin advices say that another of the ten forts making up the city's defenses has fallen, which means that seven of them remain. Novogeorgivsk was held out as a bright spot in the gloomy situation that surrounds the fall of Warsaw, for with it still in Russian hands the Vistula would remain an interrupted highway for the transportation of German supplies.

The English military critics have been quick to see a great peril to the Russian forces in the news, which says that the Germans have reached the Bug south of Wyszokow and are heading for the Petrograd railway, so few miles away. There is a very slight hope held out in the possibility that only a small force of troops has been left just east of Warsaw to hamper the German troops who are seeking to cross the Vistula at Praga and elsewhere in that locality. But this hope is only the slightest, for it is well known that the Germans have been held here for several days and there is not much likelihood that they could have been held by any but a considerable force. The fact in the news from Berlin that the Germans have gained the eastern bank of the Vistula near Warsaw may indicate that the Russian troops on this line have been greatly decreased, large numbers of them moving eastward over the Petrograd railroad and thus being saved from the German trap.

FOUR ARE DROWNED WHEN BOAT UPSETS

Wilmington, N. C., Aug. 9. — Four persons were drowned here when a motor boat in which they were crossing the Cape Fear river capsized.

A Clever Bird.
People who feed the wild birds in winter find that the birds soon come to know them. A friend of mine used every morning to rap an English walnut on the sill of his open window. A white breasted nuthatch knew the signal and would fly to his hand and take the nut meat from between his fingers. Sometimes my friend used to hold the nut meat tightly and make the bird work to get it. One morning the nuthatch, hammering at the tightly held morsel, struck the holder's thumb at the base of the nail. The blow hurt, and involuntarily the fingers parted and released the meat. The next morning, without any preliminaries, the nuthatch hammered at the same place. He knew, and he had learned his lesson in one session too. It is a smart boy that does as well. — Winthrop Packard in Our Dumb Animals.

Wit of the Force.
The policeman had a gambler by the arm and was waiting for the patrol wagon to arrive.
"What are you doing?" asked a friend of the officer who happened to be passing.
"I am holding a card party," replied the cop. — Boston Transcript.

FIERCE FIGHT WITH BANDITS

Brownsville, Tex., Aug. 9.—Pitched battles between 200 Mexicans and Texas Rangers, American ranchmen and armed civilians at Norias, sixty miles north of here, have resulted in a score of Mexicans being killed or wounded and five ranchmen wounded, two seriously.

United States troops from several Texas posts left this morning to the aid of the beleaguered Americans.

HISTORY IN WAX FIGURES.

London's Famous Tussaud Show, With a Word About Its Founder.

At an average rate of one model per fortnight I must have turned a round thousand in my time, some in hot haste to be up to date, others at comparative leisure, being less meteoric and of more abiding interest—royalties, for example, and men of letters, or great soldiers like Gordon, Wolsley and Roberts. Each stays as long as his fame endures. Nobody remembers when Shakespeare was not in the exhibition. Voltaire is its oldest inhabitant, and five generations have now passed before the figure of this revolutionary. The most notorious leaders of the French revolution are there, as of course the exhibition was transferred from Paris to London over 100 years ago.

It was in 1802 that Madame came to London, having lived in Paris through the whole of the French revolution. Frequently had her art been requisitioned to mold the head of some sanguinary monster or other, Robespierre, Danton and Marat among the number. The cast of the last mentioned of this trio, still in the exhibition, was taken by Mme. Tussaud at the scene of his murder, and later she made a cast of the once beautiful face of his assassin, Charlotte Corday. Madame came to London alone, leaving her husband, Francois Tussaud, in Paris. After nearly half a century of peaceful and prosperous years in England, she died in 1850, in her ninety-first year. — John Theodore Tussaud in London Strand Magazine.

The Amethyst.
A good example of one of the ways in which magical properties became attributed to natural objects is the stone known as amethyst. The ancient Indian name of this stone had the sound represented by its present name. In Greek this sound happens to mean "anti-drunk," hence, without more ado, the ancients declared that the amethyst was a preventive of and a cure for drunkenness! — London Mail.

THINGS DOING AT THE MOVIES

PALACE.

William Farnum, starring in "The Mystery of Morrow's Rest," will be the feature attraction at the Palace this week, appearing in matinee and evening performances on Tuesday. The picture is a Fox production and has five parts. It is one of the very best of the Farnum plays.

Harry Myers and Rosemary Theby are Palace stars for Monday, showing in "The House of the Thousand Relations," a Victor two-reel comedy drama.

Wednesday a three-reel Imp, "Court-martialed," is scheduled, and Thursday "Heart of Cerise," an out-of-the-ordinary picture with Pauline Bush and William Clifford in three reels of Rex.

King Baggot is at the Palace Friday in "Life in the Balance," and Saturday Jean Gauntier and Jack Clark in "The Smuggler's Lass."

AIRDOME.

Motion pictures of the terrible Eastland disaster, in which hundreds of people lost their lives in the Chicago river recently, have been secured by the Airdome for Thursday. The pictures tell the story far more graphically than paper and ink. This picture is one of the first out, being released only last week.

Tuesday the Airdome starts a series of complete plays known under the general title of "Under the Crescent," all featuring the popular Princess Hassan. "The Purple Iris," is the subject of the first installment.

WONDERLAND.

"The Goose Girl," one of the "six best sellers" of a recent season and the book which contributed in so great a measure to Harold McGrath's success as a novelist, has been put into movies and little Marguerite Clarke has been chosen by the wise heads to "season" this really remarkable play.

"The Goose Girl" has been billed by the Wonderland for Wednesday, through the Famous Player Bureau.

"After Five," is the terse but eloquent title of Friday's Famous Player which will offer Edward Abeles. The play is another DeMille production.

A good Elaine Episode is on the bill for Tuesday. Another Episode or two will end the present Elaine series, which is to be followed, according to announcement, by a new Elaine serial entitled "The Adventures of Elaine."

COLONIAL.

"The Cowboy and the Lady," will be the real big bill at the Colonial this week.

This is one of the tip-top Clyde Fitch assortment, released through the big Metro corporation.

Thursday is the date set for "The Cowboy and the Lady," which goes five acts with S. Miller Kent in the lead.

"For the Sake of a False Friend," is the name of the fifth installment of "The Diamond from the Sky" series showing at the Colonial Tuesday.

COURT OF APPEALS COMPLETES WORK; SPLENDID RECORD

The Court of Appeals for this district has wound up its business for the summer—cleared the docket of every one of the eleven counties in the district—and goes into vacation for a brief period. It has made a record such as few courts of any state have ever made, and the people of the district, as well as the judges themselves, are to be congratulated.

In the first place the court is happily constituted. It is non-partisan, and was elected upon a non-partisan ballot. Two of the members "happen to be" Republican and one is a Democrat. It would be unfortunate if in the selection of the three judges all three of them should belong to one political party. No matter how sincere and earnest the court so constituted might be, its decisions in political questions would not have the confidence of the people generally that they have where the judges belong to different parties. The voters of the district should see to it that never, under any circumstances are three Republicans or three Democrats elected to the bench.

Then, a fortunate feature of the court is that the three larger cities of the district are each represented by a judge. Judge Ferneding resides at Dayton; Judge Allread lives at Columbus; Judge Kunkle's home is at Springfield. These three cities furnish a majority of the litigation, and the residence of a judge in each of the cities is especially fortunate.

There is not a court in the land, perhaps, where the judges are higher type of men. All three of them are without blemish, able and learned, each enjoying the respect and confidence of the people of his district as well as the esteem of the people of the entire district. Neither of the judges comes under the head of a "political," and none of them were elected because of his political affiliations.

The record made by the court during the few years it has been in existence as a court of appeals—for it must be remembered that it used to be the circuit court—is said by members of the bar and by justices of the supreme court, to be unsurpassed. And, after all, that is the test of the courts—the records that they make.—Dayton News.

MOTORCYCLIST BADLY INJURED

Wilder Weimer was seriously injured late this afternoon while riding a motorcycle near Greenfield.

He was picked up in an unconscious condition and taken to the home of J. D. Howland, on the Greenfield pike. The extent of his injuries are unknown.

To the Voters of Washington, C. H. Ohio:

I again call your attention to my candidacy in the Republican Primary for the nomination for the office of City Solicitor. My opponent is Mr. Pope Gregg, the present incumbent. He is seeking an election to a fourth term of that office. He has held the position six years, held the office of County Prosecuting Attorney for four years, and has also held the office of Referee in Bankruptcy in Fayette County. His brother and law-partner, Mr. Nye Gregg, who is at present holding the office of Official Examiner of Titles of Fayette County, served the City both as Solicitor and the County as Prosecuting Attorney, Union Township as Township Clerk, and his brother, the late Ace Gregg, represented the county as Prosecuting Attorney two terms and as Judge of the Court of Common Pleas for several years.

I appeal to you in the interest of fairness if the family haven't been allotted their share of public favor. The undersigned has never held office, is not a chronic office seeker, but believes that these public positions should be occasionally passed around and not held in trust by one family.

I shall appreciate your support tomorrow, and if nominated and elected assure you that I shall do everything in my power to perform the duties of the office with fidelity and for the public good.

Thanking you in advance for any favor you may bestow, I am,

Most sincerely yours,

T. L. BARGER.

PICTURESQUE "JAPLAND."

Beautiful, flowery Japan, with its wonderful color schemes, gold, silver and tinsel, is profusely illustrated in the stage settings used in "Japland," an operatic minstrel farce-comedy which comes to the Empire Theater August 13th.

The offering is a novelty because of its absolute newness of idea and construction, containing a bit or two from every form of stage creation, opera, farce and minstrelsy predominating. The fact that a girl chorus of twenty is carried will be welcome news to the followers of minstrelsy, for, while John W. Vogel's Big Minstrels have ever been sufficient in itself to pack a theater, many theatergoers want to see and hear the girls, they of trim forms and beautiful voices together with their ability to cavort, pirouette and dance, and Mr. Vogel claims to have the best singing-dancing chorus ever seen in a play-house. advt.

GIVEN A HEAVY FINE FOR RESISTING ARREST

Wes Gilman, of Parrett's Station, was fined $50 and costs, and $5 and costs, in the Mayor's court Monday morning, after pleading guilty to charges of resisting arrest and drunkenness. He was released on settlement.

Officer Bell found Gilman asleep on a doorstep near the Crone livery barn on Fayette street about 3 o'clock Sunday morning. He tapped Gilman on the shoulder. Gilman awoke, recognized the officer and made a lunge at him. Both went down in each other's clutch and rolled over the sidewalk. Employees from the livery barn came out and assisted the officer. Gilman was put in jail.

NEWS OF THE DIAMOND

Rain Jims Ball Game.

With the grandstand and bleachers literally packed with humanity and every foot of standing room and parking space in use at North End park, Wilmington, Sunday afternoon, a little cloud-burst got busy and put a highly successful crimp in the Athletic-Clinton game.

The game was to have been the fifth of the series of six arranged, and by far the most important of the season to date by reason of the 2-2 tie existing. In accordance with the contract, it was announced Monday, the game will be played at Wilmington next Sunday instead, and the game to have been played here between the Athletics and Decker's Queen City outfit will have to be cancelled.

The appearance of black clouds over Washington about noon and the accompanying atmospheric indications of rain ahead, did not in the least jar the optimism of the local team or the many rooters that accompanied it, leaving here about 12:30 in automobiles.

The rain began about 2 o'clock, while the Athletics were in the midst of field practice on the Clinton diamond. It quickly developed into a heavy downpour and few, save those in curtained automobiles, escaped a wetting. A shifting wind blew the rain into the grandstand from all directions and before the storm was over there were very few fans remaining, most of them having preferred "making a run for it" to sitting in the exposed stand.

Rainchecks will bring most of the attendance back to next Sunday's game.

The Clintons had patched up a little for the game. Ollie Chapman, manager of the Maysville state leaguers, last year, had been signed for second base and Ducky Holmes of the Virginia Coal and Coke league, was out in a Clinton suit.
